11 Food Events You Need to Check Out This Fall

Festival season isn't over yet—at least not for foodies. As the weather starts to cool off (please, let it be soon), the city ramps up its culinary offerings in the form of celebrations, pop-ups, dinner series and more. Say hello to the tastiest time of year.

OKTOBERFEST NYC

Beer ye, beer ye. For four weekends starting September 21, OktoberFest brews will be on tap at South Street Seaport's Watermark Bar. Knock back six different beers from Munich and traditional German fare like giant pretzels, brats and potato salad—all while taking in breathtaking views of the East River. (P.S. Entry is free, but be sure to buy food and drink tickets ahead of time to skip the line.)
