

Oktoberfest celebrations, parties, festivals across New York City

By Shaye Weaver

shaye.weaver@amny.com

Updated September 18, 2019 3:38 PM

Prost!

The beer-fueled Bavarian festival of Oktoberfest is kicking off Sept. 21 in Munich, and if you're looking for some lederhosen-laden action closer to home, let us help you find some of the best beer-and-sausage-fueled affairs in New York City.

Six weekends of Oktoberfest fun at Watermark

One day is not enough at Watermark Bar (Pier 15, 78 South St.), which is spanning its Oktoberfest across the next five weekends (Sept. 21-22, 28-29, Oct. 5-6, 12-13 and 19-20). Drink authentic German beer, munch on brats and giant pretzels all while getting a nice view of the Brooklyn and Williamsburg bridges and the Brooklyn skyline. Admission is free, but there are food and drink packages from $50.

Watermark Bar will test how long you can hold your stein. Photo Credit: Watermark Bar